Personal Profile

I am 19 years old and I am currently studying for my degree in Interactive computing at the University of Ulster. I am a hard worker and I always ensure that I complete my job to the best of my ability. Through my time at the Omagh CBS I have developed good communication skills, I am able to work in a team or independently. I have also developed good problem-solving skills during my time at Omagh CBS. I am very keen on sports especially Gaelic football and soccer. I have played Gaelic with my local football team Newtownstewart St. Eugene's since a young age. I have a strong interest in the sport and I have won many trophies with the club. I have played at all levels for the club and I am currently playing for the Naomh Eoghan Senior and Reserve team in Division 2 in the Tyrone league.

Experience

I work part-time at an engineering firm in Castlederg during the summer. I have worked every summer and during over school holidays. I have worked there for about 4 years which shows my commitment to the job. During my time working there I use Computer Aided Design (CAD) systems to make certain drawings for the fabrication unit and they would continue to make moulds for the PU unit for the end-product. I have also worked in the PU unit and the fabrication unit by using lathes, welding kits, and some CNC machines.

I used to work as a bartender in the Silverbirches hotel in Omagh. This job taught me to be very organised and it allowed me to work in a team. After working there for only a few months I was left in charge of the bar multiple times. This included handling the money from the tills and organising the other staff to make sure every job is done to a high standard.

I have also coached youth teams at my local GAA club. This involved making drills for the team to do in training and being able to organise times for the training and I had to make sure the venue was available for them to train on or play their matches on. This job really helped me with my organisational, communication, motivation and commitment skills.
